GREAT BENEFIT
ARM METHODS

Dr. Proctor at St. Louis Will Tell of Good Work of Farm Demonstration Work.

Remarkable development of agricultural resources, improved farming methods and a healthy community and civic growth in those sections of Texas where farm demonstration agents have been maintained for the past few years, will be pointed out at the annual meeting of the State agents in demonstration work at St. Louis by W. F. Proctor, State agent in Texas, in the joint employ of the United States Department of Agriculture and the A. & M. College extension service.

The meeting will be in session from November 16 to 19 and will be attended by every State agent in the employ of the government and by the directors of extension of the land grant colleges. Colonel Clarence Ousley, director of extension at A. & M., will attend. G. W. Orms, Mineola; J. L. Quicksall, Waco; T. O. Walton, Livingston; M. T. Payne, San Antonio; William Ganzer, Denton; E. E. Gentry, Mineola, district agents, also will attend from Texas. H. E. Savelly, general field agent in Texas, will also be present at the conference.

Plans for the next year's work will be discussed and a general conference on improving the work conducted.

There are 168 agents in as many Texas counties. Recently this work has been instituted in Baylor, Caldwell, Hidalgo, Webb, Collingsworth, Henderson, Cherokee and Montague Counties.

Mr. Proctor reports splendid progress in the work.

SCHOOL HOUSE SANITATION.

(Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior.)

Forty States of the Union have taken some legal action toward safeguarding the sanitation of public school buildings, according to a bulletin on "School House Sanitation," just issued by the Bureau of Education of the United States Department of the Interior.

"Probably nine-tenths of the existing regulation of this sort has come within the past decade," declares the bulletin. "Each State profits by the experience of forty-seven others. A law passed in one extreme of the country today is copied next month by a State 2,000 or 3,000 miles distant."

Thirty-eight States have some legal provision regarding the school site, according to the bulletin. Nearly all of these provisions are Statewide in their application, and are mandatory in character. These provisions include the proximity of "nuisances," availability of the site and size of the site. Nineteen States have laws prohibiting the location of school buildings within a specified distance from places where liquor is sold, from gambling houses, houses of prostitution and noisy and smoky factories.

Thirty of the States have sought to regulate the water supply of the public school. "The revolt against the common drinking cup," says the bulletin, "has come within the past five years. Kansas was the pioneer, but other States followed rapidly, so that now half of the entire number have either a law or a regulation regarding drinking cups."

Some form of protection against fire and panic is found in thirty-six States. Blanket regulations, or the power to make such regulations, exist in twelve States. General or special construction with a view to fire prevention is dealt with in ten States. Thirteen of the States have something to say as to corridors and inner stairways; twenty-four have regulations as to exits, and twenty-five as to exterior escapes; ten mention alarm and fire-fighting apparatus; and eleven States provide by law or regulations for fire drills. Less than half the States, according to the bulletin, have any legal word on ventilation. Thirty cubic feet of fresh air per pupil per minute is the conventional amount specified.

In the matter of cleaning and disinfecting, slightly more than one-fourth of the States have regulations which control conditions to any degree outside the districts themselves. Some of the laws and regulations are almost model; others are wholly inadequate. A few State boards of health have done notable work in this particular. Special cleaning and disinfecting follow in seven States immediately upon discovery in any school of any of a certain class of diseases. "Three of the States have a special list of specific diseases that call at once for action. This list includes scarlet fever, smallpox and diphtheria in all three States, measles in two, and infantile paralysis, epidemic spinal meningitis and bubonic plague in one each."

BRAZOS COUNTY GINNINGS.

Ed S. Darden, ginning census enumerator for Brazos County, announces that prior to November 1 there had been ginned in the county 14,846 bales, compared with 18,439 last year. A decrease for 1915 under 1914 of 3,675 bales.

AS THE NEWS BREAKS

(By Associated Press.)

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Nov. 15.—Great interest was manifested today throughout South Texas over the sale of the property of the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico Railroad properties, under orders of the Federal court, which was to occur at New Orleans, La., today. The road has a mileage of 320, extending from Houston to Brownsville and thence to San Fordyce. It was built in 1903-04 by B. F. Yoakum and associates, and the first train to be operated on the line made the trip from Corpus Christi to Brownsville July 4, 1904. For the past two years the road has been under the management of a receiver, Frank Andrews of Houston.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 15.—The State Livestock Sanitary Commission, at a meeting called for today here, was to select a chairman and transact other important business. J. H. Avery, who recently resigned as chairman, has been succeeded by David H. Cunningham of Comanche as a member of the commission, and it was generally believed the commission here today would select Cunningham as its chairman.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 15.—The annual meeting of the Oklahoma Association of Blacksmiths, Horseshoers and Wagonmakers convened here today. About two hundred delegates were present.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 15.—Special Commissioner Keasler was to resume hearing here today of the State's counter and anti-trust suit against several of the leading breweries in Texas. Hearings had been held up for several weeks.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 15.—A Statewide "safety meeting" was held here today, the chief topic discussed relating to safety in handling machinery, application of the safety idea in work shops and among children. It is planned, according to the call for the meeting, to organize an association similar to the Safety First Federation of America.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 15.—Following a custom established years ago, Governor James E. Ferguson will issue a number of pardons to prisoners in Texas penal institutions which will permit the recipients to reach their old homes in time to eat their next Thanksgiving dinners there. The list, it is understood here, will include between thirty and forty deserving convicts for whom the Board of Pardons has recommended executive clemency.

RICHARD BENNETT'S
"DAMAGED GOODS"

Richard Bennett's coworkers in Eugene Brieux's intense dramatic offering, "Damaged Goods," will be the attraction at the Colonial Theatre tomorrow night.

"Damaged Goods" is without precedent in American stage history. The play is a serious and powerful arraignment of a subject which has been subdued not only by the medical fraternity, the clergy and the orators, but also by the lay public in general.
